AUGUSTA, Nov. 3.—Alexander H. Stephens is elected to Congress in the Eighth District, almost unopposed. Chandler (Dem.) in the Fifth, McMillan (Dem.) in the Ninth, are elected to Congress by large majorities. Blount, in the Sixth District, and Cooke in the Third, Felton in the Fourth (all Democrats) are elected to Congress. There appears no doubt that the Georgia delegation in Congress will be entirely Democratic.

SAVANNAH, Nov. 3.—Partridge (Dem.) is elected to Congress in the First District, by 3,000 majority.

Illinois.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Returns from the city of Chicago and Cook county are still [illegible] Enough is known to secure the election of the Opposition county ticket by a majority, probably, of 5,000; but the Republicans, it is conceded, [illegible] Farwell in the Third District and probably [illegible] Smith in the First Congressional District. Returns from the State to midnight, indicate the following result:

CONGRESS.

Fourth District, Hurlburt, (Rep.) re-elected; Fifth, Burchard, (Rep.) re-elected; Sixth, [illegible] (Rep.) elected; Seventh, Campbell, (Dem.) elected, probably; Eighth, Fort, (Rep.) elected; Ninth, Whiting, (Rep.) elected; Tenth, Bagley, (Dem.) elected; Eleventh, Wike, (Dem.) elected; Twelfth, Springer, (Dem.) probably elected; Thirteenth, close, with chances in favor of Stephenson, (Dem.); Fourteenth, Cannon, (Rep.) re-elected; Fifteenth, Eden, (Dem.) re-elected; Sixteenth, Sparks (Dem.) probably elected; Seventeenth, [illegible] Anderson, (Ind.) elected, probably. The Republican State ticket is undoubtedly elected, but it is impossible to say by what majority.

Michigan.

DETROIT, Nov. 4.—The result for Congressman in the Eighth District is in doubt, and the full vote may be necessary to decide it. In Wayne county, which includes Detroit and [illegible] the First Congressional District, the Democrats elect the entire county ticket except Clark. Their majority on Governor is 856, and on Congressman 1,987. The Democrats will have a [illegible] in the Legislature, possibly a majority.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—Complete returns from the city of Philadelphia give Olmstead, (Rep.) for Lieut. Governor, 12,716 majority; Shepherd, (Dem.) for District Attorney, and Goddard, (Dem.) for Coroner, are elected. All the rest of the Republican city ticket has about 12,000 majority.

The Press (Rep.) concedes the election of 12 Democratic Congressmen in the State to 15 Republican—a loss of 7—but claims the State by 15,000.

A dispatch from Towanda this morning claims the election of Powell (Dem.) in the Fifteenth District—an additional Republican loss.

Kelley and O'Neil (Reps.) and Randall (Dem.) are elected to Congress.

Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, Nov. 4.—Enough gains are reported to insure the election of the Democratic State ticket by 6,000 to 10,000 majority. Five Democratic Congressmen are certainly elected, and probably two others. There is a Democratic majority in the Legislature. Most of the negroes voted the Democratic ticket.

Massachusetts.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—Gaston (Dem.) is elected Governor by a plurality of 7,187. The Republican State ticket, except Governor, is elected.

New York.

ALBANY, Nov. 4.—Adams (Rep.) is elected to Congress for the Sixteenth District. Baker (Rep.) is elected from the Twenty-fourth District. Hathorn (Rep.) is elected in the Twentieth.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4.—Results as stated in last night's dispatches are generally confirmed by later returns. The Republicans elected to Congress are: Williams, Caswell, Magoon, Kimball, Rusk and McDill. The Democrats elected are: Burchard and Lynde and the Democrats here claim Buook over Kimball. The Democrats concede a Republican majority on joint ballot in the Legislature. A dispatch from the Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee claims six Congressmen and ten to twenty majority in the Legislature.

Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 4.—A few additional returns have been received. Dunnell (Rep.) is undoubtedly elected to Congress in the First District. It now looks as if Cox (Dem.) was elected in the Second District, and in the Third District the [illegible] in favor of Wilson (Dem.) The contest on the State ticket for Supreme Court Judges will be closer than was thought last night. The Legislature is doubtful.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—A suit has been commenced against the Herald Publishing Company by the Los Angeles Water Company, for $25,000 for saying the water furnished to the city was impure and unwholesome.

It is reported that the revenue officers have made a seizure at the Cucamongo wine works and distillery for a contravention of excise laws.

A gentleman just in from Panamint reports the district in a fever of excitement. The mines are developed sufficiently to warrant the belief that they will rival in richness the famous Virginia City mines. He says the camp now contains 700 miners and more are arriving every day; some from the Bakersfield route, but most come by the San Bernardino route as it is the cheapest and quickest. Meals can be procured in Panamint for 75 cents and $2 for animals. The town is filled with saloons, and gamblers are doing splendid business. He says he saw $2,000 in one pot, a pretty good indication of good times, so old Californians say. Building lots command a high figure—from $500 to $1,000, and a considerable number are changing hands at that figure. New buildings are going up rapidly. The lead owned by Stewart, Jones & Co., is said to surpass in richness and vastness anything ever before struck west of the Rocky Mountains.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 4.—The Controller issued the following warrants to-day: In favor of the Directors of the Insane Asylum, $17,700; also warrants for $5,000 for the purchase and improvement of the grounds of the Insane Asylum; also a warrant for $1,500 for the burial grounds for the Insane Asylum; also a warrant for $3,303.98 in favor of the Commissioners of the Normal School building. Nathan, a warrant for $3,060.99, for redemption of civil bonds of 1857; Wells, Fargo & Co., a warrant for $2,558.61 for a like purpose.

ARIZONA.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 4.—The Union's dispatch from Prescott says the largest precincts heard from give Stevens (Ind.) 105 majority,—several precincts in Pima and Yavapai counties, and all of Mohave county to hear from. Stevens' election is generally conceded.

NEVADA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—The latest news from Nevada indicates the re-election of Bradley, Democrat, for Governor, and the election of the Sharon Legislative ticket.

CARSON, Nov. 4.—From dispatches received thus far from different points in the State it is quite safe to say that Bradley is elected. His majority cannot now be told, but doubtless will exceed 1,000. Ellis is probably elected.

(Signed) CRITTENDEN THORNTON,
Governor's Private Secretary.

RENO, Nev. Nov. 4.—The vote of Verdi, Glendale and Winnemucca estimated. No official returns have been received yet. This county gives Bradley, 250 maj.; Bowman, 100; Ellis, 75. Ross, (Ind.) for State Senate, 18 maj. The Independent Legislative ticket is elected by an average majority of 100. Jones, (Dem.) Sheriff, 150 maj. Shoemaker, (Rep.) is elected by 125 maj., and Ring, (Rep.) Sup[illegible] Instructor, the Independents carry the county ticket. Powning, (Rep) for State Printer, has a majority of 313 in the county. [illegible] Beatty, Supreme Judge, has about 300 majority; Belknap about 50 majority; Minor and Hobart about 500 majority; Schooling about 100; Kittrell about 60; Day about 200; Stewart about 70; Wright about 100. Tickets were so badly scratched that the judges in this precinct did not finish counting a vote of 505 till after 6 o'clock this evening.

HAMILTON, Nov. 4.—Hamilton, Eberhardt and Treasure City polled 323 votes, and gave the State officers the following majorities: Hazlett, 48; Bowman, 3; Woodburn, 80; Beatty, 104; Earl, 58; Bicknell, 44; Minor, 87; Tebbs, 57; Tuffly, 11; Hobart, 66; Day, 55; Stewart, 73; Powning, 54; Republican legislative ticket, 130 maj. No other precincts heard from, but the county will undoubtedly give the Republican State ticket 150 majority.

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—Full returns show Farrel, (Rep.) for the Senate, elected by a heavy majority; Schooling (Rep.), Assemblyman, is also elected. The Democrats elect one Assemblyman (Watt) by a handsome majority. The county ticket is mixed. Duncan (Ind.), for Assessor, is elected by a large majority. The following are the totals of official majorities from all precincts in Lander county, with the exception of Galena. That vote will not materially change the result as shown: Hazlett, 97; Adams, 60; Woodburn, 7; Hillhouse, 170; Spires, 234; Kittrell, 60; Herford, 30; Schooling, 182; Hobart, 79; Willis, 89; Whitehill, 11; Hill, 33. A Republican majority can be safely relied upon in Nye county. At the hour of the departure of the stage from Belmont this morning nearly half the entire vote was counted, showing a Republican majority of 25 in less than one hundred and fifty votes.

A CARD.

SALEM, Nov. 2, 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I desire to say through your columns that I am preparing an answer to the Report of Dolph and Patton on the investigation of the Penitentiary affairs, and hope the press will withhold further comments upon the Prison affairs until I can show up in its true light the perjury of these two men.

Two reports not at all alike, are made out by Dolph and Patton, one to the Senate and one to the House,—and the latter, the only one printed, contains garbled testimony, omits essential evidence and puts words in the mouths of witnesses never uttered by them; important affidavits of rebutting testimony do not appear in the printed report.

The Bulletin newspaper, that bloated monopolist in the peanut, pop-corn, and soda water business, harps largely upon the items of axle-grease, pepper and soap. Not one of these items appears in this report, and if the editor of that paper or any other party will point out these items in the report I will pay him for the trouble. On page 100 appears a reported testimony of the Assistant Warden. Such questions were never asked the Warden nor answered by him. A very important affidavit of Dr. A. M. Belt concerning the whisky item does not appear in any [illegible] in the report. This affidavit was presented to the committee, read by them, and they agreed that it should appear in the report.

The statement of the Warden in regard to the disposal of the whisky, that none had been used for any other than medical purposes, and the amount still on hand, fails to appear. These two statements Patton has wilfully omitted from the report for the reason they furnish a full and clear explanation for what purpose the whisky was purchased and what use was made of the same.

The committee report the books and accounts carelessly kept. Not one member of that committee ever saw the inside of the books, nor examined the accounts except through Patton's glasses; and the latter gentleman confined his examination almost exclusively to vouchers and not books. He undertook to make the printed biennial report agree with the vouchers. This could not be done as the former was full of typographical errors.

The whole report is a tissue of falsehoods, garbled evidence, erroneously drawn conclusions and mendacity; and before this question is settled, I will show that my charge against Mr. Dolph, that the law firm of Messrs. Mitchell, Dolph & Co. were employed to help lobby through certain claims against the State, as appears on the books in my office, while some of the members of said firm were members of the Legislature and did vote and sustain the payment of said claims above referred to, is true; and I will show Patton to be just the man he is shown to be in that printed report. And also I will show these two sanctimonious scoundrels to be a pair of villains.

Two of the Committee acknowledged to me after the two reports had been submitted, one to the House, the other to the Senate, that they had never read Patton's report, and did not know what it contained.

In conclusion, will Mr. Dolph explain why one report was submitted to the Senate and an entirely different one to the House, both signed by himself as Chairman of the Committee?

W. H. WATKINDS.

A Salt Lake dispatch of Oct. 30th says: The grand jury to-day reported on the libelous allegations on the purity of Chief Justice McKean's conduct, made by the Salt Lake Herald, which quoted an article from the Virginia (Nevada) Independent accusing Judge McKean of some illegal acts in that State. The report substantially says: "We have thoroughly investigated the matters referred to us in the special charge of October 19th, and after examining many witnesses, including the editors and proprietors of the Herald, we find that the allegations are entirely groundless, and the evidence adduced before us was a complete vindication of the honesty, integrity and impartiality of the Chief Justice.

A TYPHOON.

AN AMERICAN MIDDY'S EXPERIENCE DURING THE GALE AT NAGASAKI.

The following extract from a letter written by Midshipman M. A. Shufeldt, of the Hartford, to his father, Captain R. W. Shufeldt, now stationed at Annapolis, descriptive of the terrific typhoon which swept over the harbor of Nagasaki last August, will be found of interest:

I have lots of news; first and foremost comes the great typhoon which swept over this city, about two weeks ago, the strongest one, according to the Nagasaki Gazette and in the mind of the "oldest inhabitant," that this coast has seen for seventy years. If you remember how completely land-locked this harbor is, what good holding ground, &c., you can better imagine the force of the gale. We (the Hartford) were anchored in about the middle of the bay, with both bowers down and forty-five fathoms of chain on one and thirty on the other. The bay was crowded with vessels of all descriptions—merchantmen, [illegible] (the old Stonewall) and three English gunboats. At dusk it was overcast and rainy, with strong puffs of wind, the barometer falling rapidly. I was standing on the forecastle about 8 P. M., and then it began to increase, and I could hear anchors being let go and chains veered all over the harbor. I ran below and took a look at the barometer—29.11, falling rapidly; at nine o'clock 28.97, and the wind howling and shrieking; our top-gallant masts were on deck and everything snug aloft. About three bells we veered to sixty fathoms on both chains, and brought up on both anchors with a sharp tug which started them both out of the mud, and the ship dragged about two lengths, then let go the starboard sheet and dragged in about ten seconds more, when we fetched up on the sheet, which brought the ship up and swung on for an instant

BROADSIDE TO THE WIND.

When, after a fearful careen, she slowly righted and swung "head to." Ten minutes after, with barometer at 28.31, the wind blowing so hard that it was utterly impossible to walk forward, except to crawl on your belly, something white flashed by, and away went our fore-top-gallant sail, saying "good-bye" to the yard as neat as could be, the latter being at the time lashed in the rigging; and then, with guns of distress firing all over the harbor, an immense black object loomed up on our port bow and came down rapidly upon us, when the Admiral rushed to the port on the half deck and sang out to stand by to veer on all chains, and to let go the starboard sheet. Down came the immense steamer with three anchors down and going ahead with her engines full speed, still passing us stern foremost, at the rate of about five knots an hour. I was standing aft when I heard Captain Dekrafft say, "Admiral, she'll foul us! she'll foul us!" A sudden, powerful puff of wind, and the gallant old Hartford brought us sharp on her starboard anchors and swung slightly but rapidly to starboard, causing the dragging steamer to sheer our quarter and carry away the gig. She was soon lost in

THE PITCHY DARKNESS.

A few minutes after the Saco went by us steaming with all her might and four anchors down, yet steadily dragging on the rocks. Then the Kearsarge began to send off all kinds of fireworks, and we saw the Ashuelot and a German brig which was athwart her hawser, go drifting off. About 11 o'clock the force of the wind was something terrific—utterly impossible to describe. At seven bells the barometer was 28.31! The howling of the gale was so fearful that it was impossible to hear a yell in your very ear, and the rain came down like knife blades. We heard the snapping of the masts of an immense Danish merchantman, anchored a little off our starboard bow, where she evidently had parted her chains. She went by us like a flash; then two immense junks came tearing down on us, and striking our taut cables, were blown high and dry on them, as it were, which caused us to surge ahead, when the poor devils sank with their living cargoes. Only one came over our bow, with head bleeding, and he sought protection. We were now under full head of steam and slowly dragging. At 12, with the barometer at 28.10, it fell almost calm for about two minutes, then, with a yell like

TEN THOUSAND DEMONS,

It came out in exactly the opposite direction, and then, blowing all the time just as hard, followed the compass right around. The Saco went by us again, and the immense fleet of junks went crashing and sinking all over the harbor. Through the almost impenetrable gloom I could make out the Stonewall close aboard by the flash of her minute guns. Our ship rolled in the mountain-locked harbor of Nagasaki as heavily as in a heavy ocean swell. About 1.30 A. M. the barometer jumped from 28.13 to 28.47, and began rapidly to rise. I could not help but wonder at the great power this little instrument had to relieve human anxiety. The Admiral's face of dull care immediately brightened, and in fact all felt as if an immense weight was lifted, for many thought that if the anchors held we might go

RUN DOWN AND FOUNDERED.

The typhoon rapidly abated, and soon "all hands" had gone below to catch a little rest during the few remaining hours. The morning broke clear and calm, but with wreck and destruction on every side. The mastheads of dozens of junks were visible sticking out of the water all around us. On the right hand rocky shore were piled five [illegible] steamships, the majority of them blown completely out of their element, high and dry, with masts and sails in inextricable confusion. The majority of the merchantmen had lost all their masts and spars. One of the largest foundered at her anchors, others total wrecks, and piled in every imaginable way on the rocks; the shores lined with broken junks and sampans, and the water,

COVERED WITH DEAD BODIES

And debris of every kind. The Stonewall had parted both her chains and gone ashore and filled, with a large hole in her side. Ashore the destruction was awful. The solid stone "bun" was torn to pieces, and the rocks and stones, weighing on an average half a ton apiece, thrown across the streets and into the gardens of the houses facing. All the latter were down, including the Governor's new place. The streets were filled with timber, beams, bricks, tiles, broken limbs of trees, and the whole city presenting on every side wreck, desolation and death. The Japs themselves were nearly wild, and go around now with the longest faces in the world. Poor fellows! they deserve all the pity imaginable. Eighty junks were sunk in this harbor alone and in all 350 dead bodies picked up. We (that is the fleet) came out all right. We lost our launch, dingy and first cutter—steam launch pretty well knocked. The Ashuelot lost her head booms. The Saco and Kearsarge are all right. The sudden changing of the wind undoubtedly saved the two latter vessels.

Such was the great typhoon, and now rumors of floods, wrecks and destruction of property reach us every day. Nothing for the last 70 years has equaled it. I do not want to see such another. What effect such a blow would have on vessels at sea would be hard to imagine, when in a land-locked harbor it can create such destruction. To-morrow the Saco goes to Shanghai, and the Kearsarge takes the Venus transit party, who have just arrived by last Pacific Mail steamship to Vladivostock, in Russian territory; and our new port is not as yet known, but the rumor is that we will return to Yokohama, via Kobe and the inland sea. While off of the deck the other day, I had the honor of a talk and walk with the Admiral, and he desired me to remember him to you, with many regards, &c. He evidently feels very much the loss of his wife, and looks twice as old as on his first arrival; is very nervous, and always [illegible] and spiritless. On the 6th of this month I have been 14 months away from home, and 16 since graduation, with 14 more to [illegible] before I can hope to catch a sight of Sandy Hook light; but when this old ship can (if she ever does) come foaming up the bay with "a bone in her mouth" and the long pennant at the main, then there will be one light heart in the steerage you "can bet." Excuse scrawl, as I had to finish latter part in haste, to write a few lines to George and aunty. Much love from your affectionate son,

MACE.

LETTER FROM "NORTHWEST."

[FROM OUR TRAVELING CORRESPONDENT.]

ROSEBURG, Nov. 3, 1874.

The last week, in common with the whole month of October, has been as fine Indian summer weather as ever was seen in the State. The roads were consequently in good condition for traveling. The farmers and stockmen were longing for rain to enable them to commence plowing and to set the grass growing. This day indicates that their wishes are about being gratified, for a gentle rain commenced falling this morning with the prospect of a heavier and continuous one.

[illegible] Promises to add to its many industries a large fruit canning [illegible] process of drying and canning [illegible] will be in operation in a few weeks. Should it prove successful, it will stimu[late] [illegible] ing on an extensive scale. The farmers will learn the folly they have been guilty of in allowing the great majority of their [illegible] to run down into mere scrub. It will, however, be the occasion of profit to nurserymen, for the success of this mode of drying fruit is a guarantee for the replanting of orchards with the best trees and the choicest varieties, as well as the cultivation of all that remains good of the old trees. The politicians of Salem are well pleased with the bargain they made with those of Portland in giving the subsidy for the Insane Asylum for getting the appropriation for the State buildings. Business has been good in this city during the fall, but wheat at 62½ cents a bushel will make money scarce and collections difficult. Breyman Bros. have their fine brick store almost completed, and the bank house of Ladd & Bush has been greatly improved. There is a degree of intelligence, cultivation and social refinement among the people of Salem second to none in the State.

ALBANY

Is making decided progress in new buildings, increase of population and growth of her manufacturing interests. The canal from the Santiam river to the town—12 miles—is proving to be a great power in a double sense. By it all the machinery and most of the warehouses of the place will be run in a short time, and can all the year; freighting of wheat and flour is already carried on extensively by flat boats; these valuable commodities will no more be locked up during the winter months by reason of bad roads. The leading men of Albany and the surrounding district are thoroughly alive to their interests. Albany is a live [illegible]

EUGENE

Has not made the progress it promised to do when the railroad first reached the town. The friends of the State University are discouraged for the [illegible] by not getting the appropriation from the late Legislature that [illegible] expected, with which to finish the building. [illegible] people will likely make another united [illegible] and their rich men, of which there are [illegible] number, will probably put their hands a little deeper in their pockets to complete this institution that is so essential to the growth and prosperity of the [illegible] intellectual, moral and social [illegible] of the people. Good public schools, [illegible] colleges and churches are the signs th[illegible] the progress, refinement and morals [illegible] of the p[illegible]

Dr. A. Sharples [illegible] just purchased from Col. A. Saxe, of Kent[ucky] [illegible] 21 head of thoroughbred Cotswold bucks [illegible] he proposes to sell to farmers [illegible] The Doctor has the written pedigree of each of these bucks, and strong testimonials from leading bankers in Kentucky that Col. Saxe deals in nothing but the best class of sheep and cattle. The Doctor will guarantee all he says about these sheep. As good sheep are now the most valuable investment that farmers can make in the State, thoroughbred bucks of the various breeds are invaluable and essential to secure the most profitable results. Farmers who pay high prices for sheep should be fully satisfied that they are getting value for their money.

Wheat is selling for 50 cents a bushel at Eugene. A few lots have sold as high as 53 cents.

OAKLAND

Is about holding its own in buildings, population and business. The stores and private residences are kept in excellent order. Abraham & Bro. are the leading and successful merchants of the place; Mr. B. Herman is the favorite lawyer and public man of the town, and Mr. R. Thomas sustains his reputation as a first-class hotel and restaurant keeper, which travelers by the railroad can testify to by the comfortable breakfasts and suppers that he provides. Mr. M. Parker's hotel is a favorite resort for farmers. The concert held there on Friday evening for the benefit of the Methodist Church was most successful. The hall was crowded, the performance was most creditable, the appearance and conduct of the people gave evidence of taste, culture and liberality. The friends from Wilbur rendered valuable assistance in the performance and material aid. The string band was excellent. Mrs. Todd, of Wilbur, who presided at the organ, was the life and soul of the meeting. The Wilbur Academy is bearing good fruit.

THE BAPTIST PROTRACTED MEETING

That is being held in Calapooia Valley School-House I had an opportunity of attending on Sunday. The day was most favorable; there were at least 200 present. The appearance of the farmers, their wives and families were striking evidences of prosperity, intelligence and superior conduct. Not many years since this district was distinguished for horse-racing and whisky-drinking on Sunday by the young men; they are now as noted for attendance at Sunday Schools and churches. The farmers in general, and the Christian people in particular, are noted for their industry, prosperity and hospitality, of which Mr. D. Hunt is a fair sample. There were three of the popular Baptist preachers present who took part in the services. The Rev. Mr. Jenkins preached a short, popular, telling sermon in the morning. You city people would likely call these preachers "rough and ready," but they can appeal to the fruits of their labors as so many seals to their ministry. "By their fruits ye shall know them" is a good test of efficiency.

COLE'S VALLEY.

This is one of the most beautiful valleys in Douglas county. The scenery is grand, the soil is rich, the farmers are prosperous, intelligent and independent. Mr. W. B. Clarke is the leading spirit and one of the most enterprising and successful men in the valley. He owns a large tract of fine timbered land, and runs one of the best saw and planing mills in the country for its size. He is preparing to build a mill that will cut 20,000 feet a day. He commenced on nothing but a good head, willing hands and a strong will. By a thorough knowledge of his business, untiring industry, business capacity and integrity of character he has acquired an independence. Success is sure to attend all such.

NORTHWEST.

A letter from Malad City, Idaho, dated October 24th, says: "The Mormon Bishop Hatch, of Franklin, is in town to-day, and will to-morrow preach an election sermon in the tabernacle. He may fool the poor dupes of Cache valley, but the people of Malad have had one dose of his kind of legislation, and object to sending him to the Legislature again to raise the rates of toll on the roads they are compelled to travel the year round. Besides, the Bishop is too cheap a legislator. We have a little price of our honorable representative, and it is a well known fact that the Bishop's vote in the last Legislature only commanded a half-bushel of carrots, while that of his friend Fenn, from Nez Perce county (now a candidate for Congress), never sold for less than a plug of tobacco."

Denver has a new-fangled musical instrument, a string and [illegible] in itself, which cost $6,000.

THE TERRITORIES.

Six lads were recently fined $2.50 each, at Salt Lake, for betting and racing on the Sabbath day.

The first number of the Utah Scandinave has made its appearance at Salt Lake. S. J. Jonasson is editor-in-chief.

Several hundred polygamists are said to have become citizens through perjury, in the past six months, in Utah.

Mr. Bliss, of the Denver News, is said to be as clear-headed as any man in Colorado. That's because he's very bald.

Ex-Governor Evans is east endeavoring to secure shekels for a further extension of the Denver and South Park railway.

The survey has been completed for the Colorado Central Short Line into Denver and the profile for the grading prepared.

The amount of quartz sold in Helena, Montana, during the last six months, has placed over $150,000 in circulation. It is thought the [illegible] will [illegible] $300,000 next year.

The sheepowners of the Little Colorado and tributaries, Arizona, have taken their flocks to New Mexico or some other country, in order to get rid of paying county and territorial taxes.

The Helena (Montana) Independent says: "The Trapper quartz district gives promise of being the best in Montana. At present the indications are that several of the lodes will prove permanent, and that millions of money will find its way down Willow creek."

The Denver News says: The infamous work of poisoning whole flocks of sheep down in Southern Colorado bids fair soon to arouse a spirit of retaliation on the part of the sheep men. We hear low mutterings of reprisals against such cattle men as are known to be engaged in the diabolical work of poisoning sheep, and there is a prospect that cattle may soon be afflicted with epidemic scourges. Such things are a blot upon our Territory and should be stopped.

A Walla Walla woman wants a divorce. In her complaint, after alleging that her husband had cruelly treated and deserted her, she avers that the property of the household consists of a double-barreled shot gun of the value of $20, which she prays the Court may be set aside as her separate property, and that she may be awarded the custody of the three minor children. Three children and a shot gun, what else could a woman want?

Jeff. Standifer, an old miner and Indian fighter well known in the Northwest Territories, died at Fort Steele, Wyoming, Sept. 30th. He had been complaining for some time, and was under the impression that the time had come for him to pass in his checks and travel the road over which he had sent many a pesky redskin. Jeff was a noted plainsman, and his name is as familiar as a household word from the Missouri river to the Pacific ocean. He was a great Indian fighter, scout and mining explorer, and has figured very conspicuously in the history of the Rocky mountains for many years. He was engaged as a scout by the Big Horn Expedition, but after being out for a short time was compelled, through weakness and debility, to return to Fort Steele, where he lingered till death relieved him from earthly care. He informed the correspondent of the Tribune who accompanied the Big Horn Expedition that he should never recover from his sickness, and he would die with a full head of hair.

OREGON.

The whole number of money orders issued at the Salem postoffice [illegible] branch of the Postal Department was established, is 10,943 up to November, 1874.

Let Oregon have a railroad connection with the East and she will have a population of 500,000 people in 1880. So writes an Iowa correspondent to the Record.

Our Hillsboro correspondent sends a letter in regard to the roads and bridges of Washington county, which he says are nearly quite all constructed as sort of makeshifts, and looks as though the people expected to use them only for a short time and intended to give the country up to the Indians again.

Articles of incorporation were filed at the Secretary of State's office last Tuesday for the Columbia River Improvement Company, with H. B. Scott, A. C. Kinney, L. B. Seely and A. B. Atwater as incorporators. The object of the Company is to build a canal and locks, with necessary buildings, fixtures and appurtenances, on the Oregon side of the Cascade falls, in the Columbia river. The principal office will be located in Portland, the capitol stock being $250,000, divided into 2,500 shares at $100 each.

EASTERN NEWS.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

RESULT OF THE EASTERN ELECTIONS.

Michigan.

DETROIT, Nov 3—Returns show considerable Democratic gains. The new Constitution and the Woman Suffrage amendment are overwhelmingly lost. The Democratic gains throughout the State are immense. The Republicans do not claim over 5,000 majority on the State ticket. Williams (Rep) for Congress in the First District has over 1,000 majority. The Second District is very close. The Republicans claim it by 800. Willard (Rep) in the Third, and Potter (Rep) in the Fourth, Williams (Rep) in the Fifth, Conger (Rep) in the Seventh, Bradley (Rep) in the Eighth are elected. [illegible] from the Sixth so far show a majority for [illegible] (Dem)

Minnesota.

ST PAUL, Nov 3—Returns to midnight do not change the result in the First and Second Districts. The election of King (Rep) in the Third is very [illegible]. This county gives 1,000 majority against [illegible] believe [illegible] Legislature favorable to Ramsey to the U S Senate.

Kansas.

ST LOUIS, Nov 3—There are but few returns from [illegible] do not indicate any result.

Missouri.

ST LOUIS, Nov 3—Not a precinct in city and county [illegible] and full vote. Returns from the State are [illegible] and do not indicate any result. The [illegible] however claim all the Congressional [illegible] except the Sixth and Tenth, but the Republicans concede to them but four.

New Jersey.

JERSEY CITY, Nov 3—Bedle (Dem) is no doubt elected Governor by 6,000 majority. Teese (Dem) [is elected] to Congress in the Sixth District over [illegible] by 208 majority. Hardenbergh (Dem) is elected to Congress in the Seventh District. Appearances indicate that the New Jersey Congressional delegation will stand four Democrats to three Republicans. The State Senate remains the same and the House is overwhelmingly Democratic.

Massachusetts.

BOSTON, Nov 3—Gaston's election is conceded on all sides with a probable majority of from [illegible] 000 to [illegible]. Frost's election in the Fourth District is [illegible] but it will be very close.

Butler is badly beaten, Thompson having a majority of 1,051 with only a small town to hear from. Banks made a clean sweep of the Fifth District, Gooch not carrying a single town except his own. Williams and Alexander are also defeated by small majorities. Ayer is defeated in the Seventh District. Some small towns are yet unheard from but it is considered that they cannot possibly affect [illegible] majority which will be at least 1,000.

The following results of the Congressional election may be accepted as positive: Fourth District—[illegible] (Rep) elected by a large majority. Second—Harris (Rep) by a full majority. Third—Pierce (Rep) by a reduced majority. Fourth—Frost (Rep) by 10 majority. Fifth—Banks (Ind) by 5,000 majority. Sixth—Thompson beats Butler by at least 1,000. Seventh—Tarbox (Lib) is elected by 1,000 majority. Eighth—Warren (Dem) is elected by a large majority. Ninth—Howe (Rep) [illegible] majority. Tenth—Seeley (Ind) 400 majority. Eleventh—Chapin (Dem) is elected over Alexander.

In the Legislature the House will be Republican and the Senate is about equally [illegible]

New York.

NEW YORK, Nov 3—Returns as far as received to this hour indicate that Tilden's (Dem) majority for Governor in this State will be 40,000, and the Assembly will be Democratic.

South Carolina.

[illegible], Nov 3—This city gives Green (Fusion) [illegible] for Governor 5,000 majority. The Governor is in doubt. Kershaw (Conservative) probably and McGowan (Conservative) elected to Congress. Mackey (Fusion) [illegible] Smalls (Republican colored) is elected [illegible] District. Rainey's re-election from [illegible] is doubtful.

[illegible] States.

[illegible] Governors are elected in Mississippi, [illegible] and Delaware. There is a clean sweep of Congressional delegations in Delaware, Alabama, Maryland, Texas, Virginia and Tennessee. [illegible] six Democratic Congressmen gained.

[illegible] Tammany candidate for Mayor of New York City, is elected by 8,000 over both other candidates.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov 3—Monroe county, it is estimated, gives the Democrats 1,800 majority. Seven [illegible] wards in this city give the Republicans [illegible]

[illegible], Nov 4—Negley (Rep) is probably defeated in the Twenty-second Congressional District. [illegible] (Rep) in the 23d and White (Rep) in the [illegible]

Rhode Island.

[illegible], Nov 3—Ames in the First and Ballou in the Second District, both Republicans, are [illegible]. The vote is light.

Tennessee.

[illegible], Nov 3—Later returns make Young's (Dem) majority 3,900. Telegrams say that Caldwell (Dem) is elected over Nunn in the Ninth and [illegible] is elected in the Sixth District by 5,000.

[illegible], Nov 3—The State has gone Democratic by from 25,000 to 30,000 majority. All the Congressional delegation is Democratic except the [illegible] and 2nd Districts which are doubtful. [illegible] of the Legislature are largely Democratic.

Texas.

[illegible], Nov 3—Returns from the Texas [illegible] the election of Democrats in all of [illegible]

Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov 3—Additional returns favor the Conservatives. The indications are that they elect five Congressmen and the State Treasurer. The [illegible] the election of 48 [illegible] of the Legislature, 56 being a majority.

Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Nov 3—The Democratic Congressional [illegible]

LOUISVILLE, Nov 3—Returns come in slowly from the State, but dispatches to the Courier-Journal show [illegible] Kentucky. It is probable that the Democrats have made a clean sweep, electing all ten Congressmen.

Vermont.

RUTLAND, Nov 3—[illegible] is elected to Congress over Poland by a large majority.

Virginia.

RICHMOND, Nov 4—[illegible] indicate the election of Walker (Conservative) in the Third District, Tucker in the Sixth, Harris in the Seventh, Hunter in the [illegible] (Conservative) to Congress. [illegible] (Rep) in the Second, Stowell (Rep) in the Fourth, Thomas (Rep) in the First. [illegible] are all probable [illegible]. The Second District is doubtful, with chances in favor of Goode (Conservative).

Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Nov 3—Returns indicate that the [illegible] have elected Williams in the First, [illegible] in the Second, Magoon [illegible] the Seventh and McDill [illegible]. The Democrats elect Lynde in the [illegible] in the Fifth. The Sixth is [illegible] with chances in favor of Kimball.

There is a strong probability that the Republicans will have a majority on joint ballot of the Legislature [illegible] a Republican Senator to succeed [illegible] but little doubt that the Republicans have a majority in the State at large. The [illegible] will probably be Democratic by two majority. The Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee claims a majority in the Legislature and the election of six out of eight Congressmen, which will change the complexion of the delegation in the present Congress. The Democrats now [illegible] the Sixth District.

Alabama.

[illegible], Nov 3—The city and county of Mobile [illegible] by about 1,900 majority. Two riots occurred. Two negroes were killed.

[illegible], Nov 3—Bradford, Democrat, is elected to Congress in the Third District—a Democratic gain.

[illegible], Nov 3—Several negro women [illegible] clothes voted here to-day. They [illegible] and placed in jail.

[illegible], Nov 3—Six whites were wounded [illegible] in the fight at the polls. Three negroes were killed outright, and as far as heard from [illegible] were wounded, ten to fifteen mortally. [illegible] have died since the fight. The fight was provoked by the whites going to the assistance of [illegible] who voted the Conservative ticket.

MONTGOMERY, Nov 3—The Democrats claim certainly five Congressmen—a gain of two.

Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Nov 3—O'Brien (Dem) is elected to Congress in the Third District by 1,459 majority and [illegible] (Dem) by [illegible] in the Fourth District. [illegible] (Dem) is elected in the Sixth District by [illegible] in the First Congressional District [illegible] (Dem) elected in the Second District [illegible] and in the Fifth Mr [illegible] (Dem) are elected. In the Ninth it will take an official count to decide.

Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Nov 3—The vote is close between [illegible] and Hynes, Democratic and Republican [illegible] in the Third District. The [illegible] that Hynes will carry Pulaski county [illegible] shows the Wilshire ticket far ahead [illegible] his election by a good majority.

Georgia.

AUGUSTA, Nov 3—Alexander H Stephens is elected to Congress in the Eighth District almost unopposed. Chandler (Dem) in the Fifth, McMillan (Dem) in the Ninth are elected to Congress by large majorities. Blount in the Sixth District and Cooke in the Third, Felton in the Fourth (all Democrats) are elected to Congress. There appears no doubt that the Georgia delegation in Congress will be entirely Democratic.

SAVANNAH, Nov 3—Partridge (Dem) elected to Congress in the First District by 600 majority.

Illinois.

CHICAGO, Nov 3—Returns from the city of Chicago and Cook county are still incomplete. Enough is known to secure the election of the Opposition county ticket by a majority probably of 5,000, but the Republicans, it is conceded, re-elect Farwell in the Third District and probably elect Smith in the First Congressional District. Returns from the State to midnight indicate the following result:

CONGRESS.

Fourth District—Hurlbut (Rep) re-elected. Fifth—Burchard (Rep) re-elected. Sixth—Henderson (Rep) elected. Seventh—Campbell (Dem) elected probably. Eighth—Fort (Rep) elected. Ninth—Whiting (Rep) elected. Tenth—Bagley (Dem) elected. Eleventh—Wike (Dem) elected. Twelfth—Springer (Dem) probably elected. Thirteenth—close, with chances in favor of Stephenson (Dem). THE LATEST.

Michigan.

DETROIT, Nov 4—The result for Congressmen in the Eighth District is in doubt, and the full vote may be necessary to decide it. In Wayne county, which includes Detroit and comprises the First Congressional District, the Democrats elect the entire county ticket except Clerk. Their majority on Governor is 807 and on Congressman 1,367. The Democrats will have a large representation in the Legislature, possibly a majority.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov 4—Complete returns from the city of Philadelphia give Olmstead (Rep) for Lieut Governor [illegible] majority. Shepherd (Dem) for District Attorney and Goddard (Dem) for Coroner are elected. All the rest of the Republican city ticket has about 1,000 majority.

A dispatch from Towanda this morning claims the election of Powell (Dem) in the Fifteenth District—an additional Republican loss.

Kelley and O'Neil (Reps) and Randall (Dem) are elected to Congress.

Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, Nov 4—Enough gains are reported to insure the election of the Democratic State ticket by 6,000 to 10,000 majority. Five Democratic Congressmen are certainly elected and probably two others. There is a Democratic majority in the Legislature. Most of the negroes voted the Democratic ticket.

Massachusetts.

The Democrats elected are Burchard and Lynde, and the Democrats here claim Buick over Kimball. The Democrats concede a Republican majority on joint ballot in the Legislature. A dispatch from the Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee claims six Congressmen and ten to twenty majority in the Legislature.

Minnesota.

ST PAUL, Nov 4—A few additional returns have been received. Dunnell (Rep) is undoubtedly elected to Congress in the First District. It now looks as if Cox (Dem) was elected in the Second District, and in the Third District the chances are in favor of Wilson (Dem). The contest on the State ticket for Supreme Court Judges will be closer than was thought last night. The Legislature is doubtful.

It is reported that the revenue officers have made a seizure at the Cucamonga wine works and distillery for a contravention of excise laws.

A gentleman just in from Panamint reports the district in a fever of excitement. The mines are developed sufficiently to warrant the belief that they will rival in richness the famous Virginia City mines. He says the camp now contains 700 miners and more are arriving every day, some from the Bakersfield route, but most coming by the San Bernardino route, as it is the cheapest and quickest. Meals can be procured in Panamint for 75 cents and $1 for animals. The town is filled with saloons, and gamblers are doing splendid business. He says he saw $2,000 in one pot, a pretty good indication of good times, as old Californians say. Building lots command a high figure—from $500 to $1,000, and considerable lumber are changing hands at that figure. New buildings are going up rapidly. The lead owned by Stewart, Jones & Co is said to surpass in richness and vastness anything ever before struck west of the Rocky Mountains.

NEVADA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 4—The latest news from Nevada indicates the re-election of Bradley, Democrat, for Governor and the election of the State Legislative ticket.

CARSON, Nov 4—From dispatches received thus far from different points in the State it is quite safe to say that Bradley is elected. His majority cannot now be told, but doubtless will exceed 1,000. Hills is probably elected.

(Signed) CRITTENDEN THORNTON,
Governor's Private Secretary.

[illegible], Nev, Nov 4—The votes of Verdi, Glendale and Wadsworth [illegible] estimated. No official returns have been received yet. This county gives Bradley 250 maj, Bowman 100, Ellis 75, Ross (Ind) for State Senate 38 maj. The Independent Legislative ticket is elected by an average majority of 100. Jones (Dem) Sheriff 100 maj. Shoemaker (Rep) is elected by 125 maj, and Ring (Rep) Superintendent of Schools by [illegible] of Constable and Public Administrator. The Independents carry the county ticket. Powning (Rep) for State Printer, has a majority of 313 in the county, a handsome compliment. Beatty, Supreme Judge, has about 300 majority, Belknap about 50 majority, Minor and Hobart about 500 majority, Schooling about 100, Kittrell about 50, Day about 200, Stewart about 70, Wright about 100. Tickets were so badly scratched that the judges in this precinct did not finish counting a vote of 505 till after 6 o'clock this evening.

HAMILTON, Nov 4—Hamilton, Eberhardt and Treasure City polled 323 votes and gave the State officers the following majorities: Hazlett 45, Bowman [illegible], Woodburn 80, Beatty 104, Earl 3, Bucknell 64, Minor 87, Tebbs [illegible], Tully 11, Hobart 66, Day 55, Stewart 73, Powning 54. Republican legislative ticket 100 maj. No other precinct heard from, but the county will undoubtedly give the Republican State ticket 150 majority.

AUSTIN, Nov 4—Full returns show Farrell (Rep) for the Senate elected by a heavy majority. Schooling (Rep) Assemblyman is also elected. The Democrats elect one Assemblyman (Watt) by a handsome majority. The county ticket is mixed. Duncan (Ind) for Assessor is elected by a large majority. The following are the totals of official majorities from all precincts in Lander county, with the exception of Galena. That vote will not materially change the results as shown: Hazlett 9, Adams 69, Woodburn 7, Hillhouse 170, Spares 234, Kittrell 60, Herford 89, Schooling 182, Hobart 75, Willis 90, Whitehill 11, Hill 33. A Republican majority can be safely relied upon in Nye county. At the hour of the departure of the stage from Belmont this morning, nearly half the entire vote was counted, showing a Republican majority of 75 in less than one hundred and fifty votes.

A CARD.

SALEM, Nov [illegible], 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I desire to say through your columns that I am preparing an answer to the Report of Dolph and Patton on the investigation of the Penitentiary affairs, and hope the press will withhold further comments upon the Prison affairs until I can show up in its true light the perjury of these two men.

Two reports not at all alike are made out by Dolph and Patton, one to the Senate and one to the House—and the latter, the only one printed, contains garbled testimony, omits essential evidence and puts words in the mouths of witnesses never uttered by them. Important affidavits of rebutting testimony do not appear in the printed report.

The Bulletin newspaper, that bloated monopolist in the peanut, pop-corn and soda water business, harps largely upon the items of axle grease, pepper and soap. Not one of these items appears in this report, and if the editor of that paper or any other party will point out these items in the report I will pay him for the trouble. On page 100 appears a reported testimony of the Assistant Warden. Such questions were never asked the Warden nor answered by him. A very important affidavit of Dr A M Belt concerning the whisky item does not appear in any place in the report. This affidavit was presented to the committee, read by them, and they agreed that it should appear in the report.

The statement of the Warden in regard to the disposal of the whisky, that none had been used for any other than medical purposes, and the amount still on hand, fails to appear. These two statements Patton has wilfully omitted from the report for the reason they furnish a full and clear explanation for what purpose the whisky was purchased and what use was made of the same.

The committee report the books and accounts carelessly kept. Not one member of that committee ever saw the inside of the books nor examined the accounts except through Patton's glasses, and the latter gentleman confined his examination almost exclusively to vouchers and not books. He undertook to make the printed biennial report agree with the vouchers. This could not be done, as the former was full of typographical errors.

The whole report is a tissue of falsehoods, garbled evidence, erroneously drawn conclusions and mendacity, and before this question is settled I will show that my charge against Mr Dolph, that the law firm of Messrs Mitchell, Dolph & Co were employed to help lobby through certain claims against the State as appears on the books in my office, while some of the members of said firm were members of the Legislature and did vote and sustain the payment of said claims above referred to, is true, and I will show Patton to be just the man I consider him to be in that printed report. And also I will show these two sanctimonious scoundrels to be a pair of villains.

Two of the Committee acknowledged to me after the two reports had been submitted, one to the House, the other to the Senate, that they had never read Patton's report and did not know what it contained.

In conclusion, will Mr Dolph explain why one report was submitted to the Senate and an entirely different one to the House, both signed by himself as Chairman of the Committee?

W H WATKINDS.

A Salt Lake dispatch of Oct 30th says: The grand jury to-day reported on the infamous allegations on the purity of Chief Justice McKean's conduct, made by the Salt Lake Herald, which quoted an article from the Virginia (Nevada) Independent accusing Judge McKean of some illegal acts in that State. The report substantially says: "We have thoroughly investigated the matters referred to us in the special charge of October 19th, and after examining many witnesses, including the editors and proprietors of the Herald, we find that the allegations are entirely groundless, and the evidence adduced before us was a complete vindication of the honesty, integrity and impartiality of the Chief Justice."

A TYPHOON.

AN AMERICAN MIDDY'S EXPERIENCE DURING THE GALE AT NAGASAKI.

The following extract from a letter written by Midshipman M A Shufeldt of the Hartford to his father, Captain R W Shufeldt, now stationed at Annapolis, descriptive of the terrific typhoon which swept over the harbor of Nagasaki last August, will be found of interest:

I have lots of news; first and foremost comes the great typhoon which swept over this city about two weeks ago, the strongest one, according to the Nagasaki Gazette and in the mind of the oldest inhabitant, that this coast has seen for seventy years. If you remember how completely land locked this harbor is, what good holding ground, &c, you can better imagine the force of the gale. We (the Hartford) were anchored in about the middle of the bay with both bowers down and forty-five fathoms of chain on one and thirty on the other. The bay was crowded with vessels of all descriptions—merchantmen, steamers, and, besides the [illegible] Kotetsu (the old Stonewall) and three English gunboats. At dusk it was overcast and rainy, with strong puffs of wind, the barometer falling rapidly. I was standing on the forecastle about 8 P M, and then it began to increase, and I could hear anchors being let go and chains veered all over the harbor. I ran below and took a look at the barometer—29 11, falling rapidly; at nine o'clock 28 97, and the wind howling and shrieking; our top-gallant masts were on deck and everything snug aloft. About three bells we veered to sixty fathoms on both chains, and brought up on both anchors with a sharp tug which started them both out of the mud, and the ship dragged about two lengths. Then let go the starboard sheet and dragged in about ten seconds more, when we fetched up on the sheet, which brought the ship up and swung on for an instant.

[illegible] THE WIND.

When, after a fearful careen, she slowly righted and swung head to. Ten minutes after, with barometer at 28 11, the wind blowing so hard that it was utterly impossible to walk forward except to crawl on your belly, something white flashed by and away went our fore-top-gallant sail, saying good-by to the yard as neatly as could be, the latter being at the time lashed in the rigging, and then, with guns of distress firing all over the harbor, an immense black object loomed up on our port bow and came down rapidly upon us, when the Admiral rushed to the port on the half deck and sang out to stand by to veer on all chains and to let go the starboard sheet. Down came the immense steamer with three anchors down and going ahead with her engines full speed, still passing us stern foremost at the rate of about five knots an hour. I was standing aft when I heard Captain Dekraft say, "Admiral, she'll foul us! she'll foul us!" A sudden, powerful puff of wind, and the gallant old Hartford brought us sharp on her starboard anchor and swung slightly, but rapidly, to starboard, causing the dragging steamer to sheer our quarter and carry away the gig. She was soon lost in

THE PITCHY DARKNESS.

A few minutes after, the Saco went by us steaming with all her might and four anchors down, yet steadily dragging on the rocks. Then the Kearsarge began to send off all kinds of fireworks, and we saw the Ashuelot and a German brig which was athwart her hawse go drifting off. About 11 o'clock the force of the wind was something terrific—utterly impossible to describe. At seven bells the barometer was 28 31. The howling of the gale was so fearful that it was impossible to hear a yell in your very ear, and the rain came down like knife blades. We heard the snapping of the masts of an immense Danish merchantman anchored a little off our starboard bow, where she evidently had parted her chains. She went by us like a flash; then two immense junks came tearing down on us and, striking our taut cables, were blown high and dry on them as it were, which caused us to surge ahead, when the poor devils sank with their living cargoes. Only one came over our bow, with head bleeding, and he sought protection. We were now under full head of steam and slowly dragging. At 12, with the barometer at 28 10, it fell almost calm for about two minutes, then with a yell like

TEN THOUSAND DEMONS

It came out in exactly the opposite direction, and then, blowing all the time just as hard, followed the compass right around. The Saco went by us again, and the immense fleet of junks went crashing and sinking all over the harbor. Through the almost impenetrable gloom I could make out the Stonewall close aboard by the flash of her minute guns. Our ship rolled in the mountain-locked harbor of Nagasaki as heavily as in a heavy ocean swell. About 1 30 A M the barometer jumped from 28 13 to 28 41 and began rapidly to rise. I could not help but wonder at the great power this little instrument had to relieve human anxiety. The Admiral's face of dull care immediately brightened, and in fact all felt as if an immense weight was lifted, for many thought that if the anchors held we might be

RUN DOWN AND FOUNDERED.

The typhoon rapidly abated and soon all hands had gone below to catch a little rest during the few remaining hours. The morning broke clear and calm, but with wreck and destruction on every side. The mastheads of dozens of junks were visible sticking out of the water all around us. On the right hand rocky shore were piled five large steamships, the majority of them blown completely out of their element, high and dry, with masts and sails in inextricable confusion. The majority of the merchantmen had lost all their masts and spars. One of the largest foundered at her anchors, others total wrecks, and piled in every imaginable way on the rocks; the shore lined with broken junks and sampans, and the water

COVERED WITH DEAD BODIES

And debris of every kind. The Stonewall had parted both her chains and gone ashore and fallen, with a large hole in her side. Ashore the destruction was awful. The solid [illegible] was torn to pieces, and the rocks and stones weighing on an average half a ton apiece thrown across the streets and into the gardens of the houses facing. All the latter were down, including the Governor's new place. The streets were filled with timber, beams, bricks, tiles, broken limbs of trees, and the whole city presenting on every side wreck, desolation and death. The Japs themselves were nearly wild, and go around now with the longest faces in the world. Poor fellows, they deserve all the pity imaginable. Eighty junks were sunk in this harbor alone, and in all 350 dead bodies picked up. We (that is the fleet) came out all right. We lost our launch, dingy and first cutter—steam launch pretty well knocked. The Ashuelot lost her head booms. The Saco and Kearsarge are all right. The sudden changing of the wind undoubtedly saved the two latter vessels.

Such was the great typhoon, and now rumors of floods, wrecks and destruction of property reach us every day. Nothing for the last [illegible]0 years has equaled it. I do not want to see such another. What effect such a blow would have on vessels at sea would be hard to imagine, when in a land-locked harbor it can create such destruction. To-morrow the Saco goes to Shanghai, and the Kearsarge takes the Venus transit party, who have just arrived by last Pacific Mail steamship, to Vladivostock in Russian territory, and our new port is not as yet known, but the rumor is that we will return to Yokohama via Kobe and the inland sea. While off of the deck the other day, I had the honor of a talk and walk with the Admiral, and he desired me to remember him to you with many regards, &c. He evidently feels very much the loss of his wife, and looks twice as old as on his first arrival; is very nervous and always seems oppressed and spiritless. On the 6th of this month I have been 14 months away from home, and 16 since graduation, with 14 more to come before I can hope to catch a sight of Sandy Hook light; but when this old ship can (if she ever does) come foaming up the bay with "a bone in her mouth" and the long pennant at the main, I guess there will be one light heart in the steerage, you can bet. Excuse scrawl, as I had to finish latter part in haste to write a few lines to George and Aunty. Much love from your affectionate son,

MACI

LETTER FROM NORTHWEST.

[FROM OUR TRAVELING CORRESPONDENT.]

ROSEBURG, Nov 3, 1874.

The last week, in common with the whole month of October, has been as fine Indian summer weather as ever was seen in the State. The roads were consequently in good condition for traveling. The farmers and stockmen were longing for rain to enable them to commence plowing and to set the grass growing. This day indicates that their wishes are about being gratified, for a gentle rain commenced falling this morning with the prospect of a heavier and continuous one.

SALEM

Promises to add to its many industries a large fruit canning establishment on the Alden process of drying and canning. It will be in operation in a few weeks. Should it prove successful it will stimulate fruit growing on an extensive scale. The farmers will learn the folly they have been guilty of in allowing the great majority of their orchards to run down into mere scrub. It will, however, be the occasion of profit to nurserymen, for the success of this mode of drying fruit is a guarantee for the replanting of orchards with the best trees and the choicest varieties, as well as the cultivation of all that remains good of the old trees. The politicians of Salem are well pleased with the bargain they made with those of Portland in giving the subsidy for the Insane Asylum for getting the appropriation for the State buildings. Business has been good in this city during the fall, but wheat at 62½ cents a bushel will make money scarce and collections difficult. Breyman Bros have their fine brick store almost completed, and the bank house of Ladd & Bush has been greatly improved. There is a degree of intelligence, cultivation and social refinement among the people of Salem second to none in the State.

ALBANY

Is making decided progress in new buildings, increase of population and growth of her manufacturing interests. The canal from the Santiam river to the town—12 miles—is proving to be a great power in a double sense. By it all the machinery and most of the warehouses of the place will be run in a short time, and it can, all the year, freighting of wheat and flour is already carried on extensively by flat boats; these valuable commodities will no more be locked up during the winter months by reason of bad roads. The leading men of Albany and the surrounding district are thoroughly alive to their interests. Albany is a live place.

EUGENE

Has not made the progress it promised to do when the railroad first reached the town. The friends of the State University are discouraged for the present by not getting the appropriation from the late Legislature that they expected with which to finish the building. The people will likely make another united effort, and their rich men, of which there are quite a number, will probably put their hands a little deeper in their pockets to complete this institution that is so essential to the growth and prosperity of the place and the intellectual, moral and social elevation of the people. Good public schools, academies, colleges and churches are the signs that [illegible] the progress, refinement and moral [illegible] of the people.

Dr A Sharples [illegible] just purchased from Col A Saxe, of Kentucky, 21 head of thoroughbred Cotswold bucks that he proposes to sell to farmers at reasonable prices. The Doctor has the written pedigree of each of these bucks, and strong testimonials from leading bankers in Kentucky that Col Saxe deals in nothing but the best class of sheep and cattle. The Doctor will guarantee all he says about these sheep. As good sheep are now the most valuable investment that farmers can make in the State, thoroughbred bucks of the various breeds are invaluable and essential to secure the most profitable results. Farmers who pay high prices for sheep should be fully satisfied that they are getting value for their money.

Wheat is selling for 50 cents a bushel at Eugene. A few lots have sold as high as 53 cents.

OAKLAND

Is about holding its own in buildings, population and business. The stores and private residences are kept in excellent order. Abraham & Bro are the leading and successful merchants of the place, Mr B Herman is the favorite lawyer and public man of the town, and Mr R Thomas sustains his reputation as a first class hotel and restaurant keeper, which travelers by the railroad can testify to by the comfortable breakfasts and suppers that he provides. Mr M Parker's hotel is a favorite resort for farmers. The concert held there on Friday evening for the benefit of the Methodist Church was most successful. The hall was crowded, the performance was most creditable, the appearance and conduct of the people gave evidence of taste, culture and liberality. The friends from Wilbur rendered valuable assistance in the performance and material aid. The string band was excellent. Mrs Todd, of Wilbur, who presided at the organ, was the life and soul of the meeting. The Wilbur Academy is bearing good fruit.

THE BAPTIST PROTRACTED MEETING

That is being held in Calapooia Valley School House I had an opportunity of attending on Sunday. The day was most favorable; there were at least 200 present. The appearance of the farmers, their wives and families were striking evidences of prosperity, intelligence and superior conduct. Not many years since this district was distinguished for horse racing and whisky drinking on Sunday by the young men; they are now as noted for attendance at Sunday Schools and churches. The farmers in general, and the Christian people in particular, are noted for their industry, prosperity and hospitality, of which Mr D Hurst is a fair sample. There were three of the popular Baptist preachers present who took part in the services. The Rev Mr Jenkins preached a short, popular, telling sermon in the morning. You city people would likely call these preachers rough and ready, but they can appeal to the fruits of their labors as so many seals to their ministry. "By their fruits ye shall know them" is a good test of efficiency.

COLE'S VALLEY

This is one of the most beautiful valleys in Douglas county. The scenery is grand, the soil is rich, the farmers are prosperous, intelligent and independent. Mr W B Clarke is the leading spirit and one of the most enterprising and successful men in the valley. He owns a large tract of fine timbered land and runs one of the best saw and planing mills in the country for its size. He is preparing to build a mill that will cut 20,000 feet a day. He commenced on nothing but a good head, willing hands and a strong will. By a thorough knowledge of his business, untiring industry, business capacity and integrity of character he has acquired an independence. Success is sure to attend all such. NORTHWEST.

A letter from Malad City, Idaho, dated October 24th, says: The Mormon Bishop Hatch of Franklin is in town to-day and will to-morrow preach an election sermon in the tabernacle. He may fool the poor dupes of Cache valley, but the people of Malad have had one dose of his kind of legislation, and object to sending him to the Legislature again to raise the rates of toll on the roads they are compelled to travel the year round. Besides, the Bishop is too cheap a legislator. We have a little pride of our honorable representative, and it is a well known fact that the Bishop's vote in the last Legislature only commanded a half bushel of carrots, while that of his friend Fenn, from Nez Perce county (now a candidate for Congress), never sold for less than a plug of tobacco.

THE TERRITORIES.

Six lads were recently fined $2 50 each at Salt Lake for betting and riding on the Sabbath day.

The first number of the Utah Scandinav has made its appearance at Salt Lake. S J Jonasson is editor in chief.

Several hundred polygamists are said to have become citizens through perjury in the past six months, in Utah.

Mr Bliss of the Denver News is said to be as clear headed as any man in Colorado. That's because he's very bald.

Ex-Governor Evans is east endeavoring to secure nickels for a further extension of the Denver and South Park railway.

The survey has been completed for the Colorado Central Short Line into Denver and the profile for the grading prepared.

The amount of quartz sold in Helena, Montana, during the last six months has placed over $150,000 in circulation. It is thought the amount will reach $500,000 next year.

The sheepowners of the Little Colorado and tributaries, Arizona, have taken their flocks to New Mexico or some other country in order to get rid of paying county and territorial taxes.

The Helena (Montana) Independent says: "The Trapper quartz district gives promise of being the best in Montana. At present the indications are that several of the lodes will prove permanent, and that millions of money will find its way down Willow creek."

The Denver News says: "The infamous work of poisoning whole flocks of sheep down in Southern Colorado bids fair soon to arouse a spirit of retaliation on the part of the sheep men. We hear low mutterings of reprisals against such cattle men as are known to be engaged in the diabolical work of poisoning sheep, and there is a prospect that cattle may soon be afflicted with epidemic scourges. Such things are a blot upon our Territory and should be stopped."

A Walla Walla woman wants a divorce. In her complaint, after alleging that her husband had cruelly treated and deserted her, she avers that the property of the household consists of a double barreled shot gun of the value of $20, which she prays the court may be set aside as her separate property, and that she may be awarded the custody of the three minor children. Three children and a shot gun, what else could a woman want.

Jeff Standifer, an old miner and Indian fighter well known in the Northwest Territories, died at Fort Steele, Wyoming, Sept 30th. He had been complaining for some time and was under the impression that the time had come for him to pass in his checks and travel the road over which he had sent many a pesky red skin. Jeff was a noted plainsman, and his name is as familiar as a household word from the Missouri river to the Pacific ocean. He was a great Indian fighter, scout and mining explorer, and has figured very conspicuously in the history of the Rocky mountains for many years. He was engaged as a scout by the Big Horn Expedition, but after being out for a short time was compelled through weakness and debility to return to Fort Steele, where he lingered till death relieved him from earthly care. He informed the correspondent of the Tribune who accompanied the Big Horn Expedition that he should never recover from his sickness and he would die with a full head of hair.

OREGON.

The whole number of money orders issued at the Salem postoffice since that branch of the Postal Department was established, is 10,943 up to November, 1874.

Let Oregon have a railroad connection with the East and she will have a population of 500,000 people in 1880. So writes an Iowa correspondent to the Record.

Our Hillsboro correspondent sends a letter in regard to the roads and bridges of Washington county, which he says are nearly quite all constructed as sort of makeshifts, and looks as though the people expected to use them only for a short time and intended to give the country up to the Indians again.

Articles of incorporation were filed at the Secretary of State's office last Tuesday for the Columbia River Improvement Company, with U B Scott, A C Kinney, L B Seely and A B Atwater as incorporators. The object of the Company is to build a canal and locks, with necessary buildings, fixtures and appertenances, on the Oregon side of the Cascade falls in the Columbia river. The principal office will be located in Portland, the capital stock being $250,000, divided into 2,500 shares at $100 each.

THURSDAY MORNING NOV 5, 1874.

AN EMPHATIC PROTEST

Enough is known of the results of the Eastern elections to render it certain that the opposition have succeeded beyond their own hopes or the expectations of anybody Everywhere the Republican losses are heavy Instead of falling back, as we had calculated, and as the Administration journals of the [illegible] predicted would be the case, the opposition has marched on to the end as steadily as they began in Ohio and Indiana Think of the election of a Democratic Governor in Massachusetts, and the choosing of three stright Democrats and two Independents to represent the old Puritan Commonwealth in the National Congress!

The defeat of General Dix for Governor of New York we regard as a real misfortune He has been tried, and has proved equal to the position, and that is more than can be said of most of New York's later Governors. Samuel J Tilden is doubtless a respectable man We are told by the Republican papers that he is, and we are glad it is so since he is to be Governor of the Empire State But Dix is more than respectable he is a man of rare executive ability, and of acknowledged purity of character He has been condemned for the sins of others

Allowing to the Republicans all the members whose elections are reported "doubtful," sufficient gains to the opposition have already been reported to give them a majority of three or four in the national House of Representatives So, after the 4th of next March the Congress will be divided, the Senate Republican and the House opposition There will be either a large amount of bargaining or not much [illegible]

There are some crumbs of comfort to be gleaned from among the results. For instance, the repudiation of Butlerism in the person of B— Butler himself, is a glorious achievement He was the representative of all that is disreputable in the Republican party, and the people have and they will have no more of him or of the thing he represents. Alas, that in condemning Butlerism so large a part of the practices of the Republican party should be condemned!

And Banks is elected That is another rebuke to party discipline Some years ago Gen Banks, who had served his country long and faithfully in various positions, ventured to disagree with the Republican leaders upon some matter of policy, and from that day to this he has been the target for all the sharpshooters and guerillas of the Republican party The people of his State have testified in this election their opinion of the course pursued toward him!

This is, technically, a magnificent Democratic triumph, and will be so recorded But we interpret it not so. The people of these United States have not all at once changed their views and become believers in the principles that distinguished the Democratic party before it became distinguished as a party without principles The people of Massachusetts and Ohio and the other Republican States, are doubtless as thoroughly Republican in sentiment now as they ever were These elections are simply a protest of the people against the corruptions and indecencies that have of late prevailed in the Republican organization; a protest against ring management and organized theft, a protest against the manufacturing of false evidence of outrages upon negroes for the purpose of exciting the passions of ignorant electors, a protest against the general uncleanness of the Administration and a protest against the third term This being its character, it means that the people have stood not upon the question of party, but voted for men on their own merits and on the common ground that they were opposed to the way public affairs are conducted Those who warned the Republican managers two years ago of the storm that was coming have proved to be the true prophets

THE GOVERNOR WEAKENS

A letter from Salem brings intelligence that His Excellency Governor Grover has shown the white feather on the railway directors bill After vacillating for some days he at last concluded that the discreet course would be to express no opinion on the important question This is not the first time His Excellency has been found wanting, when there was need of a little courage but, though not the first it is among the worst There is neither justification nor excuse for his cowardly conduct

The provisions of the bill in question are of the utmost importance to the whole State Under the law as it stood before the passage of the bill it was required that a majority of the directors of all corporations should be residents of the State, The object of the bill was to allow a majority of the directors of railway corporations to reside abroad ! This would enable foreign capitalists to engage in the construction of railways in Oregon, without placing their money under control of men who have no money invested . With such law there would be a good field here for the use of the large surplus of money now lying idle in England and on the European Continent It is well known that European capitalists are ready and willing to furnish capital for American enterprises, provided they have the same right to manage their investments that is enjoyed by citizens of the State

It was such a law as this that Cal. Cornelius attempted to kill by withholding his signature when the law required he should sign it and gave him no discretion or power to refuse. And it is this law that the Governor helps on to its death by his cowardly noncommittal course It may be said his signature would give no more vitality to the law than his nonaction as the Constitution makes a failure to act, within five days equivalent to signing That may be the case in a technical view, [illegible] under the [illegible] circumstances, the formal approval of the Governor would [illegible] moral effect in the [illegible] of our railway enterprises to foreign capitalists Any person who thinks the signature of the Governor of no importance would see how differently the railway ring here look at it. They are jubilant over what they consider a signal victory Their interest in the matter is that under the law the control of the railways now run by Mr Holladay for personal and political purposes, might pass into other hands.

We are informed that His Excellency had fully made up his mind and declared his purpose to sign the bill, when the Secretary of State who is a Director of the east side road made a personal appeal and got the Governor to change his purpose We cannot vouch for the accuracy of this explanation, but it is certainly not improbable At all events the Governor has played the cowardly part in the premises, and deserves, as he will receive, the unqualified disapprobation of the people

WHO WAS THE CHAMPION?

The Bulletin thinks the OREGONIAN is the champion of Bill ' Watkinds We don't accept the apology The OREGONIAN does not propose to champion the said ' Bill " and from all appearances we should judge he doesn't need very much championing And while on the champion question, would it not be well for the Bulletin to state specifically whether or not it is true as charged by Watkinds, that the firm of Mitchell & Dolph received a large sum of money as a fee for lobbying through the State Senate certain matters connected with Watkinds' administration of the Penitentiary, and sustaining Watkinds, and that, too, while a member of the said firm was also a member of the Senate? It is an easy matter for the Bulletin to state whether such was the case or not, as it is the organ of Holladay's ring, and the owner of the ring owns Dolph Who was the "champion of Bill Watkinds" then, brother Bulletin?

A few days ago the Chicago Times said—alluding to the well known article of the National Republican which certified that a third term has no attractions for General Grant "Grant has finally expressed himself on the third term question by a very Bunsby like utterance He says he is not a candidate for the office but considers himself in the hands of his friends. If they choose to nominate him, he will be bound to accept, but he will not work either to secure a nomination or to avoid it. This is substantially what his supporters have all along said It means that Grant will not interfere will the efforts of his body guard to foist him once more upon the country, but will hold himself in readiness to decline the honor if it shall appear that he cannot get it It is an old trick with which all politicians are familiar But this utterance will be but cold comfort for those Republicans who attribute their late defeat in Ohio and Indiana to his candidacy, They will have to bear the burden of the third term scarecrow through the November election but if they are defeated they can make an excellent scapegoat of Grant.'

After all the vigorous protests of the Administration press against the agitation of the third-term question after all the endless columns of editorial going to prove that the discussion was all nonsense, it will be found that not a few of the more courageous Republican papers will lay the blame and the odium of this defeat on what one of the impatient organs recently called 'Grant's cussed reticence

The Conservatives of the South are on trial henceforth Having wrested the reins of government from the hands of the carpet-baggers, it remains for them to demonstrate by their moderation and discretion and by a fair and impartial administration of the laws that the reports of their repeated outrages upon Republicans are untrue They will be watched with eyes only too ready to see their faults, and every act of theirs that can by any construction be tortured into an exhibition of Ku Kluxism will be dished up in all the most approved styles, to create feeling against them They have a difficult path before them with so large an ignorant and turbulent class to be restrained, and in a situation to be misunderstood, misconstrued and misrepresented on every hand Small allowances will be made for their circumstances and small excuse for their shortcomings

Nathaniel P Banks made a square fight and deserved an election In his very first speech he told the Democrats that the Civil Rights Bill was a measure deemed by Sumner to be essential to the security of the newly enfranchised people and for his part he should probably vote for it should he have an opportunity He thought however that if both parties would drop the question, the blacks would in one or two years gain all their political rights by the South's action ! On all other questions he defined his position with equal courage The result shows that the people of his district were not slow to recognize and reward his honesty General Banks carried every town but one in his district When he was elected to the State Senate last spring he carried every town His opponent D W Gooch was an honest able and popular man

The dispatches do not seem to throw any light on the question of what particular kind of Democracy it is that has carried the Eastern elections. Is it the Inflation Democracy, or the contraction Democracy? The hard money Democracy or the rag money Democracy? The repudiation Democracy or the honest payment Democracy? The protective tariff Democracy or the free trade Democracy? Until these preliminary questions are settled a clear comprehension of the situation will be impossible And when they are settled we apprehend it will be decided that not any kind of Democracy in particular but the opposition of all classes that has defeated the Republican party where defeat was least expected

The Chicago Times puts in this good one The 'Jackson Democratic Association' (whatever that may be) of Washington, have issued an address congratulating the Democracy' on the success of the repudiationist candidates in Ohio and Indiana and the increase thereby of the repudiationist strength in the next Congress It is now in order for the Methuselah Bourbon Association of 'Confederate X Roads' to put forth a response congratulating the Jackson Democratic Association on its happy discovery that Old Hickory was a champion of an irredeemable rag money swindle!

John K Tarbox, who has just defeated Dr. J C Ayer in the Seventh Massachusetts District is just as far removed from Bourbonism as Wm Gaston This is what he said about the political rights of the negro "I am satisfied that we can't uphold Republican institutions in this country when we have a class in it having inferior political rights Every man, whether white or black, [illegible] tion and laws should be an equal sharer in every benefit that government confers" How does that [illegible] out sit on the average Bourbon stomach?

No Bourbonism for Massachusetts Hon William Gaston Governor elect of Massachusetts told the people plainly that he was "the candidate of a Reform party which would yet sweep the country Gaston is spoken of by the newspapers of Massachusetts of all shades of political opinion as an honest, upright gentleman of excellent ability

It is said that the people of New Orleans are really in earnest in the matter of indicting Kellogg and Longstreet for murder Warmoth is at the bottom of the prosecution which fact is sufficient assurance that it will be pushed with untiring perseverance and indefatigable industry

Slim Jim' —The San Francisco Alta says in relation to this noted thief and Monte sharper, who visited Portland and the State Fair a few weeks since "'Slim Jim' has arrived at Sacramento, and will probably soon be heard of somewhere along the line of the railroad as having fleeced some greedy fool at three card monte"

Meeting —This evening there will be a regular meeting of the members of the Washington Guard at their armory at 7 o clock A full attendance is desired

To be Announced —In the U S District Court Judge Deady will announce his opinion in the case of the bark Hotspur

Jolly Good Fellows —Regular adjourned meeting this (Thursday) evening at 7½ o clock, at Nonpareil Hall,

THE STAGE.

From a late Australian exchange we learn that Mrs F Bates is rusticating in Sydney while her husband makes a tour of New Zealand to see what show there is for taking a dramatic company over there

Mr Samuel W Piercey who visited Portland with the Waldron Troupe and went east several months ago, has worked his way up to 'leading business' supported Olive Logan, in her own plays, in St. Paul Minnesota, and received more compliments than the star of the evening

To morrow evening Oro Fino Theater will be opened for two nights and a matinee The beautiful three-act comedy of a 'Victim of Circumstances' will be presented on the opening night A number of talented and popular actors and actresses will appear in the play among which are Mr and Mrs R Fulford, Miss Pixley Messrs White Crowell and others Mr Tony Ward, the talented Dutch comique will appear during the evening in a number of new character songs

Yesterday we were shown a letter written to Mrs I M Phelps by Mr J H Leroy now in San Francisco The writer states that he has effected all necessary arrangements for a company to sail from San Francisco for Portland next Saturday So far as known the company will consist of the writer Mr and Mrs Frank Rea and a Mr Long This troupe when added to the present company which Mrs Phelps has here, will make a very strong and talented combination Mr Leroy also states that he has engaged Mr Sortel, who will sail on Saturday with the other persons mentioned Mr Sortel comes under a two weeks' engagement and during that period will be the principal attraction Arrangements have been effected by Mr Leroy with Miss Adelia Leighton, recently from the East, so that that lady will follow the engagement of Mr Sortel She has been engaged for only a few weeks and during that time will appear in a number of new and startling specialties among which can be mentioned 'My Lady Madge' and Sphynx' Mr J A Herral has also been engaged for two weeks, and will appear here during the holidays At present it is the expectation to open a new season at Oro Fino Theater one week from to morrow Rip Van Winkle will be presented on the opening night From present appearances our public will have a succession of theatrical novelties the coming winter

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Local news very scarce

Election news still coming in

The Willamette Chief has been repaired

Roads leading into the city are becoming quite muddy

The suicidal mania has again broke loose in San Francisco

Any late election news is the common street salutation

Nothing will sooner tempt a bachelor to abandon his resolution to marry than to sleep in the adjoining room to a young couple with a collicky baby

The Alta says 'Willamette' or 'Wallamet?' —which is the proper name? Up in Oregon this throws the Bacon Shakspeare conundrum in the shade

'That s the sort of umbrella that people appropriate said a gentleman to a companion one morning showing a very handsome silk parachute Yes rejoined the companion quietly I thought so when I saw you holding it

An exchange remarketh —'No more frizzes ladies, except with those who must hide some defect The hair is combed straight back and tied in a Chinese queue low in the neck without ornament or formed into a small coil also low The hats are low crowned, and not being mounted on a mass of false hair rest gracefully on the actual heads of the fair wearers This is the present style and we are glad of it.

BALLS AND PARTIES.

The season for social hops and public balls can be said to have been fairly inaugurated Last evening the members of the Grand Army of the Republic of Canby and Baker Post gave a very pleasant party at Good Templars Hall corner of Third and Alder streets It is the first of a series of such parties which are proposed to be given at irregular intervals during the coming winter In all the essentials of a party the affair was a complete success There was a large attendance several hundred we should judge, or really more than the ample dimensions of the hall could accommodate The room was appropriately decorated with banners Excellent dancing music was furnished and no deficiency existed in the arrangements which could deprive participants of sharing in all the possible enjoyment and festivity of the occasion That was the unqualified verdict of every one present last evening Strict decorum was preserved by the floor managers who were all attention and politeness and there was an entire absence of any objectionable character Really it was a social affair, pleasurable and creditable to all concerned We trust the organization will find it agreeable and profitable to repeat such parties quite often

Don't pay high prices for Hats while they can be obtained at a reasonable figure Among the latest additions to the stock of JOHN O NEIL & Co, clothiers is a complete line of Hats for the fall and winter season They [illegible] them cheaper than the same have been offered heretofore in this city [illegible] The high rate of prices are played out and O NEIL & Co can prove it They are opening some new styles in Hats and Clothing Make a note of it before it is too late

[illegible]

So fades the summer balmy hours
With song of birds and breath of flowers
Her robes of beauty jeweled crown
The cruel Autumn casteth down.

Homes in her golden leafage hung
From airy arches lightly swung
Whose nestlings grew from winged and fleet
Departing with the summer sweet

Leaves have their time to fall and we
Lead everywhere a like decree
That life, with its sweet grace outworn
Returns to feed a race unborn

But forests fading brown and sere
Renewed shall bloom another year
Renewed shall wear as fair a crown
As that which Autumn casteth down

Life in the dust laid [illegible] low
In coming springs shall bloom and glow
Shall glow and bloom, again as fair,
For Home and nestlings gathered there

And so the inner sense perceives
A likeness in the falling leaves
Hiding its meed of hope and trust
When we like them fade back to dust

Since Life with her sweet grace outworn
Shall throb in races yet unborn
Herein we see Immortal Powers
To build again her leafy towers

Knowing in slumbers sweet and deep,
He giveth His Beloved sleep
[illegible] we leave the grand event

LOVE ON THE YELLOWSTONE

From the Montana Avant Courier

One of Gallatin's fair daughters while returning from Wonderland stopped with her companions at a Yellowstone ranch They had been there scarcely an hour when one of the proprietors gained the ear of our heroine and informed her that hard by was one of the finest largest and best raspberry patches he ever saw or heard tell of Why they could just scoop them up &c He urged upon her the necessity of the berries being plucked immediately as they were dead ripe millions of them She was delighted at the prospect of going for the berries, but when she ascertained that our hero was bent on acting as guide then her ardor became dampened However they started.

We bid adieu to any further description of this novel love scene as now follows the conversation in which a mountaineer wooed a former belle, whom two hours before he had never seen showing the absurdity of the old "[illegible] heart" and fair lady business

Say, do you see them fences?"

Oh, yes they are nice fences.'

Well, them fences is ourn

Whose?"

My pard's and mine—half is mine and half is his'n and those fields is ourn, too and the house and stock and chickens, and mortgage, and all on the ranch is ourn—half is mine and half is his'n

Ah, indeed!"

Yes—and you don't know how much we got in the bank besides and if I was to get a wife you bet I'd get more than half And I suppose you don't know that I am the best hunter and guide in the Rocky Mountains? Well I am and what is more I have enough quartz to buy out all the postoffices in Montana and pay for running them besides Why I have a fortune just in one mine alone. The boys tell me its a brass mine but if it ain't brass it's gold sure and if it ain't that it's good quartz anyhow and don't—don't you think I ought to get married?"

"Most assuredly I do A young man possessing your wealth and good looks should not hesitate a moment about entering into matrimony I am surprised to think you are still single Are you?"

Well yes I suppose so But say do you see them granaries? Well I just have enough grain over yonder to last two years, and so you see I can stand off the grasshoppers one year anyhow And you needn't be afraid of Injuns up here they don't come this high up —and [illegible] you want to marry me? There, now

Oh Sir why—why this is so unexpected you know, and besides, I—I should deem it my duty to inform you that I am engaged to be married to a gentleman in the States I regret that your affections are not bestowed on some young lady whose heart is free. Please do not refer to the subject again

"Well, I wouldn't have done so now, only I heard as how you didn't talk pretty to a nice got up Bozeman chap and told him him you didn't want to marry him nohow, and I supposed that I stood a good show of catching you [illegible]. And —and (raising his voice) there's the raspberry patch over there, and come to think of it—I don't think they are as thick now as they used to be."

CHINESE MATERIA MEDICA.—Ah Moy, an energetic heathen whose thieving depredations have frequently engaged the attention of the authorities, was captured last night while engaged in robbing a Chinese drug store on Pacific street After securing the front-door with a stout rope to prevent the proprietor of the shop from emerging suddenly if he should be disturbed by the operation Ah Moy broke in a pane of glass in the upper part of a show window, and was standing on the sill fishing up articles with a hook fastened to the end of a pole, when the police came upon him unexpectedly. The only property which the thief appears to have secured when time interrupted was a pair of deer's horns, which had been cut from the animal in the freshly grown condition The horns or rather sprouts were curiously done up in paper and fancifully adorned with Chinese letters and trade-marks indicating that they were the genuine article The proprietor of the shop testified that the horns were worth something over $50 and that he had a further supply of the commodity deposited in his window valued at some hundreds of dollars The Court curiously inquired wherein this strange value consisted and received the interesting information that the newly sprouted horns of the deer contained the potent properties known to the Chinese materia medica In securing this inestimable remedy for multifarious diseases the deer selected were pursued and worried until they fell down exhausted by which time, it was supposed, the most effective properties of the blood were driven to the horns, and the animals were then immediately slain and the the horns cut off before the vital powers there concentrated had time to [illegible] themselves again to other portions of the body The horns are then cut up into small pieces and pulverized as required for use by the physicians The pair stolen by Ah Moy were of excellent quality, and contained sufficient virtues to eradicate half the disease prevailing in San Francisco The Court, without the slightest premeditation of a pun, innocently inquired if the singular drug was known in the Chinese practice as hart's horn Ah Moy was held to answer before the Grand Jury on a charge of burglary with bail fixed at $2 000 —S. F Bulletin Oct 28

THE PEOPLE ALARMED AND DISCONTENTED —There is a great deal of vague apprehension and discontent in the public mind, With a lively sense of the discomforts of the situation there is no clear conception of the remedy This condition of public feeling is unfavorable to the party in power It produces a critical temper and fault finding more or less just Things which in "good times" would go unnoticed are pounced upon and growled over It may be party treason but we are bound to say that the Republican party is not prepared so well as it might be to withstand the operation of the mood of the public. There are too many points on which the public, if so disposed, can fasten criticism The party has taken a good deal of credit to itself of late, for kicking out its scoundrels and exposing the misdeed that have been done in its name and the credit has not been undeserved But the operation is not one that inspires confidence The cantankerous and obstinate public is inclined to think that where such things are brought to the surface there is more of the same sort underneath. This impression could only be removed by making the process of purification so thorough that no one could question its complete efficacy That we have hardly done. The Credit Mobilier business drove Patterson out of public life, but no one connected with this shameful chapter in our political history suffered seriously from the action of Congress in regard to it The back pay bill was repealed but in a half hearted way The Sanborn contract law was repealed but it took a change in the Cabinet to upset the official action in the scandal and Butler the deus ex machina of the whole dirty business has received no effective damper on his arrogant pretensions as a party leader Then, the condition of the South is not winning Republican votes And it is not impossible that a portion of the people of Ohio are foolish enough to believe General Grant's personal partisans in their [illegible] regarding a third term, and so far as they do believe these, they are not [illegible] —N Y Times

Latest Liverpool advices denote a quiet market Pacific coast wheat ranged from [illegible] 10s 1d for average and 10 4d 10s 10d for club per cental The London market is quoted at 11 6d per quarter for average quality just shipped and 49s per quarter for average nearly due at Queenstown

There is nothing in the condition of the local money market to lay to call for special mention, business generally ruling quiet Good mercantile paper is still taken at the rates current during the past two or three weeks but the amount of discount business done is only average The balances in bank are not large and no extra effort to get rid of the surplus need be made as the current demand of the season is likely to absorb it and bring matters financially down to very close quarters Borrowers on securities outside the city or county find it difficult to get accommodations as lenders can find investments here at less expense than they can search up the character of securities offered from remote points An exchange in speaking on this same subject says when the companies or individuals have not the bank facilities needed the only way to reach the ear of capitalists is to get some good agent to give the matter his personal and individual attention or to advertise a full description of the property

Many firms would shun this course on account of its publicity But we see no reason why any sound firm or corporation should feel a delicacy about making their condition fully known to the public, when they want to borrow money for legitimate purposes Banks and insurance companies are obliged by law to keep the public informed of their condition and the railroads do so from choice It may be accepted as a rule that the corporations great or small that come boldly before the public showing freely their condition and business can get money at lower rates than they could otherwise. Capital is proverbially timid and if a good thing is offered to a capitalist privately he begins straightway to raise all sorts of objections many of which would never occur to him if the security offered had already stood the test of publicity

Wheat and Tonnage.

Advices from Liverpool and San Francisco to day denote a rather quieter grain market at both points without any important change in prices At San Francisco Wheat is reported firm and many holders are not disposed to sell at extreme rates The outlook of the market is claimed to be more favorable than for some time Low freights are certain to be the rule for months and the authorities both at home and abroad anticipate an advance during the winter months. As supporting the latter view the following from the Mark Lane Express is reproduced The tendency of the wheat market here is rather upward In some case there has been an advance of 1s ℔ quarter The markets of France and Belgium have slowly followed those of Great Britain Sales in England during the week show a diminution of 10 000 quarters which makes evident the reluctance of growers to accept present rates Freights in Hungary are declining though they are yet too high to admit of shipment of wheat to England Southern Russia however is beginning to ship despairing of doing better for some time to come as supplies are rapidly increasing It is thought that cold weather will soon interfere with shipments from America by the closing of rivers and canals, when some improvement in prices is expected

Our market is not disposed at all to fluctuate and shippers take freely all round lots which are offered at current rates though no one seems disposed to advance on our last quotations $1 37½ ℔ cental The receipts here are very large and vessels on the berth are filling up very rapidly It is likely now that before many days the boats from the upper Willamet will be running up far enough to tap a large section of wheat growing country that is not touched by the railroads and that these receipts will be much augmented

Telegrams from San Francisco to-day give 4 s 6d as the current rates for charters to a direct port which is certainly a very low figure and one not calculated to induce a large number of ships to return for cargoes another year

Miscellaneous]

Reports from Australia note the fact that free arrivals of Oregon salmon had reduced the price to 9s 9d but a reaction had raised the rates again to 10s 6d@10s 9d The cargo of British Columbia lumber per Sparrowhawk had been sold by auction. Tongued and grooved boards realized 10s 3d@[illegible] 3d per 100 superficial feet, plain panel doors sold at 14s@19s each and sash doors from 12s@15s 6d each

The small brig Brenda has just left San Diego for Cork with the first cargo of wheat ever shipped direct to a foreign port from that locality

Another coal laden vessel, bound for San Francisco from Liverpool is reported lost by fire The Mogul had 1 800 tons of coal consigned to Forbes Bros and was abandoned near the Marquesas Islands. This makes six vessels bound from Europe to the Pacific coast which have taken fire within three months

The San Francisco Board of Provision Packers have agreed upon the following basis governing all future purchases of hogs sent into that market for sale For every boar sold a deduction of 50 per cent shall be made on the weight thereof For every sow with pig a deduction of 25 per cent shall be made for every stag sold a deduction of 15 per cent shall be made No hog under 125 pounds gross weight shall be merchantable for packing purposes and the Committee respectfully suggest to farmers and stock men that the above description of hogs be retained in the country until in condition for market as they are undesirable even with the above deductions

The report that Islands sugars were scarce in this market appears to have been premature Messrs Corbitt & Macleay have still a considerable stock on hand

California has shipped a very large quantity of fruit to Chicago this season by rail One firm recently sent there ten car loads of pears and grapes at a cost of $9 010 for freight. Shipments are now about closed

Three vessels the charters of which were held by Morgan's Sons but were cancelled by the failure of that firm have made other arrangements at San Francisco for cargoes One of them had a charter for £4 5s but takes one of the same kind for £? [illegible]

The ship H. L Richardson which was to have loaded at Monterey through Morgan's Son's agency has been rechartered by a leading exporter who will load the vessel at that point with wheat bought in the Salinas valley for which he is paying $1 [illegible] 100 lbs down there

The bark Carn Tual sailed from Liverpool Oct 20th for Portland She is an A 1 iron bark clipper built and registers 5 6 tons She is consigned to R C Janion & Co and comes with a partial cargo

The bark Rifle from Liverpool via Honolulu for this port, is now nearly due She is also consigned to Messrs. Janion & Co, and has part cargo and part ballast

The American ship Frank N Thayer at Astoria will be loaded with wheat for Liverpool on owners account Her cargo is said to be already secured

The barks Hotspur and Agra have their cargoes nearly complete

The ship Sattara is receiving grain to-day at the Eastside wharf

The schooner Oregonian is taking on a deck load of lumber at the North Portland [illegible]

The bark St Patrick whose charter was cancelled by the failure of Morgan's Sons has been rechartered by Rodgers Meyer & Co to load wheat for Liverpool hauled alongside Flanders' wharf this morning and began to receive her cargo She expects to get off on Saturday

The bark Privateer one of the vessels chartered by Morgan's Sons was reported outside the bar bound in yesterday She comes from Cork in ballast. She left this port for that in September 1873 with a cargo of grain

The bark Windermere left this port for Cork with a cargo of grain Nov 4, 1873 and has made the round trip in just thirteen months.

The bark Clifton, 801 tons register is also en route to this port under charter to R C Janion & Co She comes from Europe to load grain and will be due [illegible]

The bark Windermere under charter to Rodgers Meyer & Co to load grain at this port for Europe is in the river and will probably arrive during to night or to-morrow.
